This week's health care reform news:

26 percent of employers could be subject to Cadillac tax

A new analysis from the Kaiser Family Foundation has found that 26 percent of employers offering health care benefits to employees today could be subject to the Affordable Care Act's (ACA) "Cadillac tax" in 2018.

Other highlights include:

- Premiums for individual major medical plans in Florida under the ACA will increase an average of 9.5 percent beginning January 1, 2016.
- Despite fewer patient admissions, combined earnings for Massachusetts 62 hospitals improved to $1.2 billion last year.
- Blue Cross Blue Shield of New Mexico will not compete for individual customers on the state's exchange in 2016.
