U.S. Supreme Court Health Care Reform Decision Update

The U.S. Supreme Court's decision announced today upheld the 2010 Health Care Reform Law in its entirety, with a narrowing of the provisions related to the Medicaid expansion. UnitedHealth Group has long been a strong supporter of making high-quality health care accessible and affordable for everyone; we have been working over the past two years on implementing the Law as effectively as possible for our customers and the people we serve and will continue to do so.

But, health care modernization did not begin and must not end with the enactment of the Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act. Health care reform expanded coverage, but the American health care system requires transformational change to provide all participants with broader, sustainable access to affordable, high-quality care.

We remain committed to our mission: To help people live healthier lives and to help make the health care system work better for everyone. UnitedHealth Group will continue to offer practical innovations that enhance quality, improve access and promote better outcomes, while reducing the costs of care. And we will continue collaborating with the public and private sectors and across the health care industry to bring about positive, transformative change.

We look forward to continuing to work with you and the other participants in health care to achieve these goals on behalf of all Americans.
